■ Market commentary

In October, the most significant market shift was a substantial rise in bond yields, reversing much of the decline seen in Q3. Following the Fed's 50bps rate cut on September 18th, the 10-year Treasury yield, which had fallen to 3.7%, rose by almost 60bps by the end of October, reaching around 4.3%. This increase continued post-election, nearing 4.5%. Expectations for future rate cuts also changed significantly, with the Fed Funds rate now projected to be 3.78% by the end of 2025, up from 2.78% in mid-September.

Consequently, bonds had a poor month, with US Treasuries returning -2.3% and the JPM global government bond index -3.8%. Equities also faced challenges, with the MSCI World index of developed market equities down -2.0% and MSCI emerging markets down -4.4%. A strong dollar, up 3.2% on a trade-weighted basis, further impacted returns, particularly for emerging markets. Gold was a notable exception, rising by 4.2%.

The US economy continued to show strength, with Q3 GDP growing at an annualised rate of 2.8%. Labour market data was mixed but generally indicated resilience. This economic strength led the Fed to push back against market expectations for aggressive rate cuts.

Outside the US, the ECB made its second 25bps rate cut of the cycle, responding to a fall in Euro Area CPI to 1.7% in September and ongoing weakness in the manufacturing sector. In Japan, political uncertainty arose after the ruling coalition lost its majority in a snap election. And in the UK, the Labour government's first budget introduced significant tax increases and public spending, raising inflation risks and bond yields.

Overall, while the US showed economic resilience, high tax and regulatory regimes in Europe and the UK continued to stifle growth. Our investment strategy remains cautiously constructive, with plans to add to risk assets during periods of market weakness.

The launch date is the start date of the portfolio. Returns before this date are back tested using the portfolio's fund holdings and published returns for these as at the date of launch date, which would not reflect Equilibrium's historic asset allocation views, or any changes, which would have been made to the portfolio's holdings over time. From the launch date, returns are based on the published returns for the portfolio's fund holdings and any changes which are made to these. All returns are calculated on a total return basis after the deduction of all fees. Returns for periods exceeding one year are annualised. All returns are quoted in US dollars, unless otherwise stated. Total investment charges (TIC) are the sum of a fund's total expense ratio (TER) and the transaction costs (TC). The portfolio's TIC is an estimated total for the portfolio based on the weighted average of the underlying funds in which the portfolio invests using the latest available data. If a TIC is not available, we may use the TER, which is the TIC excluding transaction costs. Where neither a TIC nor a TER is available, we may use the investment manager's ongoing fee.

The portfolio's asset allocation is based on the weighted average of the underlying funds in which the portfolio invests using the latest available data. The portfolio's asset allocation may differ from time to time due to market movements, changes to the portfolio and the underlying fund data and limitations. The underlying funds will contain exposure to assets that are invested globally, which may present additional risks. The value of an investor's investment and the income arising from it will therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations. Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information. The portfolio may also invest in funds which do not permit daily dealing. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments, other than on the fund's dealing days. Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies (even in developed markets), investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt. Individual investor returns may differ as a result of platform and adviser fees, the actual investment date, cash flows and other transactions.
